Description:

About the Author Since his early childhood, Zachary Stone has been an avid connoisseur of many fiction genres -- especially science fiction, fantasy, and horror. His desire to mentally immerse himself in alternative realities drove him to become an almost rabid consumer of films, movies, and literature. During his teenage years he developed a reputation as a an expert in the field of obscure topics and arcane lore. In regards to subjects as wide ranging as extraterrestrial visitation, paradigm shifting technologies, martian anomalies and the hoards of the undead, his talent for dissertation is well-known among his friends and associates. When he is not writing about one of his numerous interests, Zachary enjoys a drive in the countryside, or spending time with friends (including felines) and family members. An addiction to coffee has helped fuel his multi-hour long writings sessions, but perhaps at the expense of many lost hours of sleep.
