About the Author Pejman Ghadimi is founder of Secret Entourage, millionaire entrepreneur, author, life coach and leadership consultant. Pejman Ghadimi shares a very unique perspective on success and entrepreneurship; one that involves the birth of innovation through the impact made on others as well as the human connections we create daily. For many years, Pejman focused his efforts on making money and accumulating wealth only to find himself faced with the constant need for change, until he discovered what he refers to today as the Third Circle Theory. This self analysis of one's existing life through multiple perspectives and visions enables an individual to turn every aspect of his life into one where he/she has total control of the outcome. By applying this very same philosophy to his own life, Pejman has been able to financially retire in sunny South Florida where he spends his days driving exotic cars and connecting some of today's brightest and most accredited entrepreneurs together in order to shift today's younger generation into a higher level of self accountability.
